About the CPD Event

BIM is the creation and use of coordinated, consistent, computable information for the documentation of a building design, production of high-quality drawings, cost-estimates, construction planning and, eventually, for managing and operating the facility. It is an emerging information technology embracing the entire building industry and project life cycle. This technology offers a rich set of capabilities such as design visualization, material take-off, clash identification, sun studies, etc. In Hong Kong some public/private clients and consultants have started to implement BIM in their projects. This structured CPD event consists of the following topics:

Mr. Y.Y. Yip – BIM Application – A Client’s Perspective

Mr. David Fung – Real Project Experience of BIM Application in Architecture Discipline

Mr. Francis Leung - Real Project Experience of BIM Application in Engineering Discipline

Mr. Kenny Tse - Real Project Experience of BIM Application in Quantity Surveying Discipline

Mr. Elvis Li - BIM Application – A BIM Consultant’s Perspective
